RAPPEL IN LA SIMA DE LAS COTORRAS

This famous Sima is a cavity in the earth, with 160 meters in diameter and 140 meters deep, its name comes from the fact that in its interior live green parrots that at a certain time of the day fly in and out in circles, a beautiful natural spectacle. In this place, besides being able to descend more than 100 meters deep rappelling, you can also do zip line or walk through thin natural rock corridors and look down, discover the walls that keep some cave paintings such as hands, representations of humans and animals, depicted in reddish and black tones.

Inside the chasm, there is a small forest, most of the trees at the bottom are up to 30 meters long and are species that curiously are not found on the outside. The most appropriate season for bird watching is from March to November, when the birds leave the chasm at dawn and at dusk they can be seen entering again.

From the waterfall "El Aguacero" to the reservoir of the Malpaso dam in the Chiapas bridge, extends this geological fracture of vertical walls, caverns, and waterfalls; whose beauty is only accessible for those who are thirsty for adventure, it is not recommended for children, elderly adults or people with knee problems, the tour usually takes 3 days and 2 nights, to be in total contact with nature.

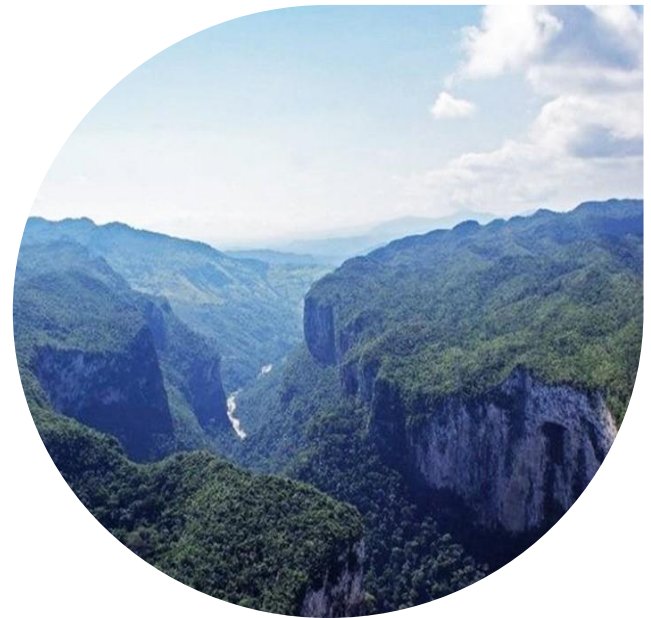

The site called "Arco del Tiempo" is considered among the highest natural arches on the planet, with 158 meters high, 255 meters long, 35 meters wide, and more than 87 thousand years old, according to the latest studies.
